

LEICESTERSHIRE
FIELDWORKERS

THE MEDIEVAL EARTHWORKS OF RUTLAND

By Robert F Hartley

This is a revised and expanded survey of the Medieval Earthworks of Rutland first published in 1983. Each site has again been studied on the ground and from air photographs, more locations added and existing plans and text improved. Detailed surveys of individual sites are included and it will be of interest not only to archaeological professionals working in planning, excavation and academia, but also to those with an interest in the development of the medieval village and county residents who wish to find out more about the previous location of buildings for village research. 133 pages, 88 plans, 17 landscape maps. 5 colour illustrations. ISBN 978-0-9548200-4-6

Order now - £12 plus £3.50 post and packing (2nd class Royal Mail) or collect postage free at a Fieldworkers meeting or from Rutland County Museum/Oakham Castle. Return this slip to:

Kathy Elkin, 37 Church Road, Nailstone, nr Nuneaton, CV13 0QH or email KathyLmaf@btinternet.com to discuss collection or delivery.

Name: _____

Address: _____

Postcode: _____ Phone: _____

Email: _____

Value enclosed: _____ please make cheques payable to Leicestershire Fieldworkers

See all our current publications at: <https://leicsfieldworkers.org/publications/>